

SIXTY MULTICOLOR, THE NEW LDT INSPIRED BY THE NINETIES

The new Sidi limited edition coloring showcase a flawless look pop

22, March 2021 - Sidi is launching a new LDT version for its Sixty collection, inspired by the craziest and chameleonic looks of the 90's. This decade stands out for its shocking colors and quite absurd miscellaneous styles that have made history even in cycling. This trend has led Sidi to boost its iconic shoes with an explosion of color, painting the upper with red, yellow and blue tones.

These new pop shades form a truly offbeat mix when paired with the Sixty's classy look, which is why this limited edition is so unique.

Sidi Sixty in a nutshell

The Sidi Sixty cycling shoes were developed to celebrate sixty years of tireless and passionate work, sixty years of successes and champions.

Made with cutting-edge materials that are also eco-friendly, Sidi Sixty are lightweight, high-performance, durable, and naturally comfortable. The technology behind these shoes includes an incredible mix of iconic details and innovative solutions, like the Tecno-4 single-rotor closure system, which reduces weight while offering incredibly precise adjustment.

The ultra-light Vent Carbon sole is made from carbon fibres, which ensure the right balance of stiffness and controlled flexibility in the toe. Special integrated air ducts provide ventilation and heat dissipation.
