

Billy Bolt is Superenduro World Champion for the second year running

The Rockstar Energy Husqvarna Factory Racing rider confirmed his dominance by winning the race and the world title at Riesa.

Five out of five races and two world titles in a row is the result of an athlete who can show incredible talent in every situation, such as winning by more than 10 seconds over fierce rivals, including teammate Colton Haaker.

"This has been a perfect season, and to end it with a hat-trick here in Riesa is great. I really enjoyed the weekend. After winning the title last night I was very relaxed and, I think, I finished with one of the best performances of the season." says the new Superenduro World Champion.

Just 24 hours later the final round of the championship was held at the same stadium in Riesa, and having to race in the opposite direction to Saturday certainly made things interesting and challenging, but it didn't change the outcome with Bolt attacking at the first corner to take the lead on lap five and win the second heat as well.

"The track was beautiful and I was feeling good, but I made a stupid mistake. Coming into the last round tied on points with Walker, I knew what I had to do. I tried hard but I couldn't do it. I should have won Race 3, but with Billy in such good shape it wasn't easy. I finished second, and took third in the championship. I had fun, and Husqvarna was fantastic. Congratulations to Billy for his incredible season" these are the words of Colton Haaker.

Next stop → FIM Hard Enduro Outdoor World Championship in Israel from 5th to 7th April.

To round off the successes of a motorsport-filled weekend, Jorge Prado finished third in the Argentina race, while Sonny Goggia won the European Open category championship.

WHAT THE CHAMPIONS ARE WEARING

Atojo - Billy Bolt

These boots were developed to meet the tough demands of champions, designed to help pilots obtain the best feeling with their motorcycles and provide optimal driving precision.

The uppers are produced in Technomicro, which is resistant against water, scrapes and cuts. The closure mechanism was studied to be effortless, with 3 levers that work independently from one another. Protection is guaranteed by a front panel in anatomically shaped PU and, in terms of comfort, three systems prevent hypertension in the foot.

The Crossfire 3 SRS - Colton Haaker, Jorge Prado, Sonny Goggia

The Crossfire 3 SRS respond to the most specific needs of riders thanks to their technological details such as the Hyper Extension Block, which is crucial for the protection of the ankle and tendons of the riders. The Flex System, on the other hand, acts on the boot's flexibility, and the Adjustable Calf System adjusts the cuff allowing the opening of the boots to be widened or narrowed through simple adjustments, ensuring a comfortable fit.

The boot cuff includes a replaceable PU inner boot guard plate with moulded rubber insert, which is responsible for protecting the leg from engine heat as it extends the life of the boots and limits wear.

The removable and replaceable DOVETAIL SOLE SRS - also available for enduro - is designed to ensure perfect grip on the bike and on the ground, thus guaranteeing safety and comfort.
