

Wega's new Nova is set to conquer the Internorga 2023
With its fascinating suspended form, the machine is designed to enhance the user's experience.

Wega is ready for a new edition of Internorga, where visitors will be able to take a closer look at Nova, a machine with character and elegance, in which the layout of every single component is designed to facilitate the barista's work with fluid and natural gestures.

From 10 to 14 March, Nova will show itself to the public with its defragmented shape, designed in collaboration with Delineo Design. Its design is based on the principles of ergonomics and user-friendliness, with the aim of enhancing the user's experience. Characterised by a touch screen display for an intuitive and fast interface, it features a large work space for the barista, illuminated by double LED spots for each group. The immediacy of use is made even more effective by the redesigned control console positioned on an axis with the brew group and the neat and tidy layout of the buttons at the front. A smoother and significantly improved draw experience. The integrated splashback allows two versions of the machine units to be used in a single movement. Additional lighting on the bodywork emphasises this eye-catching and distinctive design. The new NOVA from Wega includes the Autosteamer lance as an option, for an automatic milk frothing.

Wega awaits enthusiasts and industry experts at stand 215, Hall A4 to take them into the functional and elegant world of Nova.
