

Wega at the Paris Coffee Show with the ergonomics and intuitive shapes of Nova.

From 7 to 9 September, the machine will be the star attraction at the Parc Floral in Paris.

Wega lands in Paris to share the experience of Nova with a large audience of enthusiasts. A blend of experience, reliability and constant technological research to offer the user functionality and avant-garde, high quality results.

Developed in collaboration with Delineo Design, Nova's shapes break away from traditional coffee machine lines. Its design is based on the principles of ergonomics and user-friendliness, with the aim of improving the user experience. Defragmentation is the word that characterises this machine, with its suspended shapes that dictate the functionality of the product.

Equipped with a touch screen display for an intuitive and fast interface, it has a large working area for the barista, illuminated by double LED spots for each group. The integrated Cup lifting mechanism allows two versions of the machine groups to be used with a single movement.

Additional lighting on the body enhances the design.

The innovative feature of this product is the barista-style steam wands, which allow espresso professionals to unleash their creativity.

The stand F17 – F20 in Hall Pinede 3 of Parc Floral, visitors will be able to see Nova by Wega in action and be captivated by its unique and ergonomic shapes.
