

This all-new shoe is designed to perform at the highest level. It is a concentrate of speed designed to break new terrain.

Nimbl has launched its first gravel-specific shoe. Urano satisfies the community's high expectations, delivering a one-of-a-kind product that combines the brand's most beloved qualities in the optimal blend to tackle any terrain.

Urano is a shoe with a racing soul that embodies the values of Nimbl, while also forging a new path to uncharted fields. Superior performance and quality, Italian craftsmanship, and excellence all merged into one product that has fueled cyclists' dreams for years and has now become a reality.

“Urano is a project we are passionate about,” explained Francesco Sergio - CEO of Nimbl. “We’ve dedicated time and energy into researching a shoe that is more than just a gravel version of a Nimbl product. We concentrated on developing a model with the character and top-tier performance that our riders expect, as well as the ability to compete on a variety of terrains. Urano's research and design process took several months and demanded a specific level of definition in addressing subjects near and dear to our hearts, such as lightness, performance and elegance. These are the three most important elements we examined when implementing it. What was the result? Whatever terrain you pedal on, this shoe is extremely fast and versatile.”

This is not just a gravel shoe; it’s a true evolution of the Nimbl experience, enabling cyclists to reach greater heights thanks to its performance-oriented focus. In both the design phases and testing, this shoe surpassed all predefined standards, freeing itself from any label. Capable of handling any terrain, the heart of this product beats for unexplored paths, pushing users to go further, following the philosophy that has always driven the brand.

Urano: “Fast, no matter the road ahead”, with this shoe, the company has created a fast product regardless of the chosen road.

The light weight—just 254 grams (size 43), a signature feature of Nimbl shoes—combines here with outstanding durability. Staying true to the brand’s artisanal tradition, each pair is a handmade masterpiece crafted entirely in Italy. The single-piece carbon sole strengthens the connection between the cyclist and their bike, delivering speed on all types of terrain.

Urano is ready to write a new chapter in Nimbl's history, entering a market yet unexplored by the brand, bringing its classic yet cutting-edge touch. An irresistible combination for those always seeking motivation to become the best version of themselves, without compromise.

---

Nimbl is a premium performance cycling shoes brand. Our shoes are handmade in Italy serving the most demanding customers, from cyclist enthusiasts to world champions.

