

Macap Unveils the New Supra Line at SCA EXPO 2025

Debuting in Houston, April 25–27: a new generation of coffee grinders designed for high performance and total accessibility.

SCA EXPO 2025, taking place from April 25 to 27 in Houston, will serve as the international stage where Macap introduces its brand-new Supra line of coffee grinders, featuring the Supra 68 and Supra 83 models.

For the Italian company, this marks a strategic moment — a chance to showcase a renewed vision that blends advanced technology, practical functionality, and timeless design. The two new Supra models are engineered to handle heavy workloads, combining robust construction with reliable performance.

Designed in continuity with the visual language developed by Valerio Cometti – Studio V12 Design for the MI20 and MI40 grinders, the Supra series delivers the philosophy of design and engineering working in perfect synergy.

Available with 68 mm or 83 mm burrs, both grinders feature an intuitive, customizable graphical interface. A series of innovative features also helps redefine standards for operational efficiency. Among them is the FOS – Fast Opening System, included as standard, which allows the user to switch from micro to macro adjustments with a single motion, speeding up grind size changes and granting tool-free access to the burrs.

Another standout innovation making its global debut in Houston is the CTS – Coffee Targeting System, which directs the ground coffee flow precisely to the center of the portafilter. The user can tailor the distribution based on the portafilter's shape and the basket depth — a simple yet powerful upgrade that improves dosing accuracy and cleanliness.

Alongside the Supra grinders, visitors will also get a closer look at the MI40 PRO, the latest evolution of the MI line, reinforcing Macap's position as a go-to brand for professionals seeking quality, control, and sleek design.

Macap's presence at SCA EXPO 2025 reflects a clear strategy: to make the best technology accessible, without compromising on performance, reliability, or style. With the launch of the Supra line, Macap renews its commitment to innovation, while staying true to the Italian manufacturing tradition that has defined the company since 1930.
