

Teosport at Eurobike 2025: The excellence of the invisible

25–27 June in Frankfurt – Booth H48, Hall 9.0

Teosport is pleased to confirm its presence at Eurobike 2025, the leading international trade fair dedicated to the world of cycling. The event will take place in Frankfurt from 25 to 29 June.

While there won't be a new product on display, visitors will have the opportunity to experience the excellence behind every Teosport chamois pad firsthand. Entirely made in Italy, customisable and meticulously designed to meet the increasingly specific needs of professionals and cycling enthusiasts alike, Teosport pads set the standard for high-end cycling.

Already a trusted partner of prestigious brands such as Pissei, La Maglia and Löffler, the company is now expanding into new and exciting collaborations thanks to its versatile production, technical reliability and long-lasting quality.

"The chamois pad is something you don't see, but it makes all the difference," explains Romano Tesser, Teosport's Sales Manager. "It's a small, invisible component that enables cyclists of all levels to cover long distances on any terrain by absorbing vibrations and minimising saddle discomfort. To meet the standards demanded by an ever-growing and passionate community that sees the bike as a tool for exploration and pushing boundaries, every detail must be designed with precision, from shape and thickness to materials, with the end rider always in mind. At Teosport, we strongly believe in teamwork. We listen, we collaborate, and we co-create the perfect chamois pad for every collection. That's how truly tailored products come to life."

The Armadillo Floating Pad is among the professionals' favourites, alongside a full range of products designed specifically for women and ReUp, the sustainable project that reuses production scraps to create new pads. This commitment to sustainability has recently earned Teosport the STEP by OEKO-TEX® certification, which guarantees responsible and safe production practices.

Eurobike will be the perfect opportunity to build synergies, forge new partnerships and showcase the hidden excellence that enables you to stay in the saddle for longer while performing at your peak.
