

Jonas Vingegaard won La Vuelta a España in the Nimbl Ultimate Air

To celebrate the Team Visma–Lease a Bike rider's victory, Nimbl has created a special edition shoe.

Nimbl proudly congratulates Jonas Vingegaard on his extraordinary victory at the 2025 Vuelta a España. Crossing the finish line in Madrid, the Team Visma–Lease a Bike rider secured his triumph wearing the Nimbl Ultimate Air – shoes designed to deliver uncompromising performance on every terrain.

Nimbl shoes were a dominant presence throughout the race, with four riders finishing in the top 10 of the general classification, including Sepp Kuss in seventh place and Matteo Jorgenson in tenth place. This highlights the trust that WorldTour athletes place in our technology. Matthew Riccitello also demonstrated this confidence by winning the Best Young Rider classification and riding the Ultimate Pro Edition to victory in the white jersey.

Favoured by many WorldTour professionals, the Ultimate Air has been redesigned with Nimbl's new carbon monocoque chassis, making it lighter, stiffer and more effective than ever. Supremely comfortable and wraparound, the minimalist lace-up closure combines style with a supportive fit, and the slim, aerodynamic profile provides a proven advantage. Jonas Vingegaard's Vuelta win is testament to their power: when every second counts, having the right shoes makes all the difference.

"Winning a Grand Tour is always special, and this Vuelta was a tough one." said Jonas, newly crowned winner of the final Grand Tour of the season. "I'm grateful to my teammates for their support throughout. I'm thrilled to have such a strong team behind me and to have equipment that gives me the confidence to face any challenge. The Nimbl shoes made a huge difference — they're so light that you feel like you're not wearing anything, yet they provide full protection and transfer all your power to the pedals. The Air model that I wore at the Vuelta, with its lace-up closure, provided a supportive and comfortable fit."

"This has been a season to remember, marked by extraordinary victories that inspired us to create the Summer Victory Collection." comments Francesco Sergio, MD and co-founder of Nimbl. "We are extremely grateful for the trust that athletes place in our products when using them at the highest level of their sport. Jonas Vingegaard has been with us for many years, providing feedback and helping to shape the evolution of our shoes. Seeing him win the Vuelta in the Ultimate Air is a proud milestone for the entire Nimbl team"

To celebrate his victory, the Danish rider rode the final stage in Madrid on a red version of the Ultimate Air, specially designed for the occasion. This exclusive design is part of the Summer Victory Collection, a limited-edition range dedicated to cycling enthusiasts worldwide. The collection pays tribute to the unforgettable moments of courage, endurance and glory that have defined this season, celebrating the riders and achievements that continue to shape Nimbl's legacy.

Because victory isn't given — it's earned.
